Dear Parents and Students,

I regret to have to advise everyone the next week - 13th to the 17th July has been declared by the State Government to be an extension of the mid-year school holidays, and that children should not attend school, UNLESS:

You are an "essential services worker" and you cannot make alternative arrangements for the care and supervision of your children.

IF you are an essential services worker your children may attend school next week, and they will be provided with a "holiday program" that will not be the normal teaching and learning routine.

Information about how schools will operate from the 20th July will be provided as it becomes available. At this stage, unless otherwise advised, children will return to school as normal.

I am sorry to have to pass on this troubling news, but as with other Pandemic adjustments, it is a response made during a time of emergency. Further advice could be obtained by telephoning 9794 7899 after 8.30 am on Monday 13th July. Please be patient though, as there may be a high demand at his time.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin Mackay

Principal
